

From the testing process and the other information concerning the spectrum 'hash' generated by the powerlines broadband use, I would not recommend the passage of any legislation to that effect!